

CHAD & NATASHA HUDSON

Musicians Chad and Natasha Hudson are a singing duo who have been performing at the Empty Bowls Project for the last four years. And we know we are in for a special treat when they appear on stage.

Both Chad and Natasha grew up in musical families and they observed how music can spread joy and unify people at the same time. This is what continues to inspire them as they create and perform. They have many “favorite” songs, but one that comes to mind is Paul McCartney’s Maybe I’m Amazed. It is creative and lovely – just one of those songs that makes both the performer and the listener feel good.

Natasha and Chad have a number of favorite musical artists as well. While Natasha loves HEART because of their big notes and very cool music, one of Chad’s favorite artists is the great Johnny Cash, not only because of his song writing but also because of his unique vocal delivery.

COVID-19 has certainly changed many venues and performances for our musicians. As a result, many have been playing virtually for their fans and Natasha and Chad are no exception. They have been giving virtual performances nearly every Thursday night at 8pm. Now the couple is excited to announce that Hudson’s on Mercer Street has recently reopened and the live music is back. The backyard has been rejuvenated with the addition of a stage, and they are looking forward to once again providing live performances.

Meanwhile, the Empty Bowls Project gives Chad and Natasha heartfelt thanks for participating in our annual fundraiser. While we miss seeing them this fall, we look forward to November 2021, when we will all be together to celebrate good music, good food, friendship, and a great cause.
